

PRESBYTERIAN UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA MEDICAL CENTER
ANNUAL REPORT 1982

Three lives

About our name

Presbyterian-University of Pennsylvania Medical Center was founded in 1871 by the Alliance of Philadelphia Presbyteries as Presbyterian Hospital of Philadelphia. Since the hospital's founding, patient care has been supported by gifts of Presbyterian churches.

In the mid-1960's Presbyterian's name changed to reflect a teaching affiliation with the University of Pennsylvania. The Medical Center is a clinical training site for students at the University's School of Medicine. Members of Presbyterian's medical staff serve on the University faculty.

For many people a hospital stay is an unpleasant experience. The lives of patients, their families and friends are changed. Schedules revolve around the hospital routine: mealtimes, visiting hours, the doctor's rounds. Hopes hang on a word, a gesture, a notation on the chart.

Our concern, as board members and managers, is to provide an environment that fosters a renewal of hope and a return to health. Through the careful selection of staff, through policies that promote attention to detail and through investment in high technology equipment we attempt to meet these objectives.

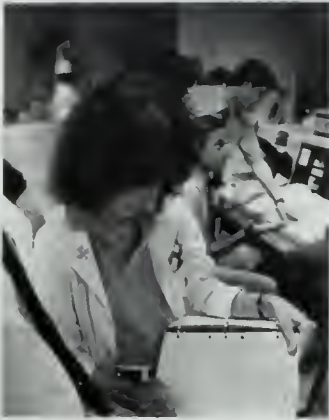

Each patient who passes through Presbyterian's doors has a story. Our job is to help give each one a happy ending.

Mary Fairchild will never forget the day her husband almost died.

"It was a Wednesday," she recalls. "That day really got to me. I'll never forget it."

Mary's husband Roy had been transferred to Presbyterian from Ephrata Hospital in Lancaster County where he had been hospitalized following a heart attack. He was scheduled for a heart catheterization at Presby. But the test was delayed when Roy developed pneumonia. He was in the Intensive Care Unit.

"He was so weak he couldn't sit up," remembers Mary. "They had to prop up his body just so he could sit upright. He looked so bad. His color was terrible."

"I knew it was bad," she recalls, "when they were trying to get him to move around. He was on the respirator. He seemed almost to be fighting it. It was making terrible noises."

"Then I saw the pulse rate drop on the monitor. I had to leave the room. I didn't have the courage to ask, or to go back—not until an hour later. I saw them call the doctors and I thought, 'They're going to my husband.' The worst was the horribleness of seeing him like that—on the respirator."

But Roy Fairchild made it over the hump. And, he survived open heart surgery—surgery that was complicated by the fact that the Fairchilds' religious beliefs prohibit the transfusion of blood.

"We knew about Dr. Helfant, about Presbyterian, through friends," says Mary. "I knew they would do everything they could. I never had any doubt in their ability to help Roy."

Six months later Roy Fairchild is back on the track. He can mow the lawn "all the way around without stopping." And he walks two and a half miles a day.

"I've learned not to push myself," he says. "In the class (cardiac rehabilitation classes held at Presbyterian for heart patients and their spouses) they tell you how to relax and think good things when you're exercising. I do that now. If I feel a slight pinch or a problem, I slow down and start again. It's paid off for me, I'll tell you."

Roy and Mary Fairchild are grateful—especially for the nurses at Presby.

"If it hadn't been for their watchful eyes," says Roy, "I would have gone under. One nurse even came up and visited me after his shift, he was so concerned. You don't forget that."

"Remembering Roy the way he was," says Mary, "we almost view it as a miracle that he's alive."

Eddie Vaughn likes Archie comic books and the Incredible Hulk. Eddie is in third grade at Our Lady of the Holy Souls Elementary School in North Philadelphia. On his last report card he got 26 A's and 6 B's. His favorite subjects are art, science and math—"especially the times tables."

Several months ago, when asked what he wanted to be when he grew up, Eddie answered, "An engineer. If I get my eyesight back."

Eddie Vaughn had gone blind in one eye.

"His eye got all red," recalls Mrs. Vaughn. "I thought it was allergies, because lots of times my eyes get all red and watery."

Eddie's teacher called Mrs. Vaughn at home and suggested Eddie see an ophthalmologist. They did. But the prognosis was bad. Eddie's problem was too far gone to correct. Surgery would not help.

Then Eddie's father remembered Scheie Eye Institute.* Maybe they could help.

After an initial examination Eddie was referred to Alexander Brucker, M.D., chief of the retina and vitreous surgical service at the Institute. Dr. Brucker discovered the problem. Eddie had a worm in his eye—toxic karakana, in medical terminology. The parasite, commonly found in the feces of dogs and cats, had somehow been ingested and made its way up to Eddie's eye causing the inflammation. Once the inflammation quieted down, the eye had formed a cataract, which had left the eye virtually blind.

Dr. Brucker's recommendation was surgery. Both the vitreous—a jelly-like substance inside the eye, and the lens of the eye would have to be removed. But there were risks.

"With any intra-ocular surgery you run the risk of complications," explains Dr. Brucker. "The eye can become infected or there can be serious hemorrhaging or retinal detachment. The worst that could happen in Eddie's case is that he could have lost the eye completely."

But he didn't. The day after surgery Dr. Brucker removed the patch from Eddie's eye and asked him to read the eye chart. Eddie had 20/40 vision—good enough to drive a car. Once fitted for a contact lens he would have no problem reading a blackboard—or even Archie comics.

"Eddie's was a nice case," says Dr. Brucker. "We see so many patients with conditions that are much worse—diabetics in desperate situations. It's a thrill to have a patient with good results the day after surgery—especially when it's a child."

*The Scheie Eye Institute—part of Presbyterian's campus—serves as the department of ophthalmology for both Presby and the University of Pennsylvania.

On Christmas morning Edward Chapleski woke up with a backache.

"It was really bad," he recalls. "When everyone else was opening up their presents, I was lying in front of the fireplace. I couldn't eat or do anything."

Edward had been experiencing pain for three months. "It started out when I picked up a box that was too heavy, and then it just got worse." He went to his doctor, who prescribed muscle relaxants. But they didn't seem to help.

Unknown to Edward was the fact that his back pain was caused by an aortic aneurysm—a ballooning in the walls of one of the body's major blood vessels. If it burst, he would die.

When the pain persisted, he made another appointment to see his doctor. This time the doctor located the problem—a large pulsating mass the size of a grapefruit. The doctor ordered tests, which confirmed what he already suspected.

"He told me I'd have to go to Philadelphia—to Presbyterian right away," Edward recalls.

When Edward arrived at Presbyterian that same afternoon, Dr. Frederick Reichle, chief of surgery, was waiting for him. After an initial examination Dr. Reichle arranged for Edward to be rushed upstairs for surgery.

"I knew it was dangerous, that I had a serious problem," Edward says of his condition. "But the pain was so bad I didn't care what happened."

A surgeon's speed and accuracy are critical if a patient is to survive this kind of emergency operation. The ballooning vessel must be immediately clamped and the damaged vessel bypassed so that normal blood flow can resume. It's a race against the clock.

Edward Chapleski beat the clock. And he gives thanks to the staff at Presby for his victory.

"Everyone was terrific. Many nights I look back and think about all they did—the nurses and the doctors."

"When I think about the experience I get shivers and goosebumps," says Mrs. Chapleski. "Dr. Reichle really saved Edward's life."

For the years ending June 30, 1982 and 1981

The financial statements of the Medical Center for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1982 and 1981 have been examined by our independent auditors, and their report is available at the Medical Center for inspection. This statement of finances is based, in part, upon estimates of reimbursements due the Medical Center as a result of its participation in Medicare, Blue Cross and Medical Assistance cost contract reimbursement programs and, therefore, is subject to possible adjustment if the amounts ultimately reimbursed vary from these estimates.

Operating revenues	1982	1981
We billed patients
For room, board and general services	$32,031,324	$26,317,670
For ancillary services	36,588,502	30,786,386
Or a total of	$68,619,826	$57,104,056
But, because of required contractual and other allowances and the inability of some patients to pay their bills in full, we charged off	17,176,017	14,714,281
Therefore we should receive from patients	$51,443,809	$42,389,775
Other operating revenue amounted to	3,658,938	3,979,233
Hence total revenue from continuing operations was	$55,102,747	$46,369,008

Operating expenses

We paid
For salaries, wages and fees	$28,005,886	$23,664,280
For employee benefits	5,589,302	4,585,039
For food, medical and surgical supplies and other expenses	23,993,534	18,437,499
Or a total of	$57,588,722	$46,686,818
Therefore we had an excess of operating revenue (expenses) of	(2,485,975)	$ (317,810)

Non-operating revenue

The Medical Center received
Gifts from others	$ 418,757	$ 185,886
Income from investments	2,067,119	1,605,801
Development activity	(292,629)	(278,645)
Or a total of	2,193,247	$ 1,513,042
Leaving a net income (loss) of	(292,728)	$ 832,504
